We are authorized to announce Lucius P. Little, of Owensboro, as a candidate for Judge of the Circuit Court of this, the Fourth Judicial District, composed of the counties of Daviess, McLean, Hancock and Ohio, subject to the action of a Democratic Primary Election, July 31, 1880.

For Commonwealth's Attorney.
We are authorized to announce Judge James Stuart, of Owensboro, as a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge of the Circuit Court in the Fourth Judicial District, composed of the counties of Daviess, McLean, Hancock and Ohio, subject to the action of a Democratic Primary Election, July 31, 1880.

For Constable.
We are authorized to announce James W. Daniel as a candidate for re-election to the office of Constable in the Greenwell Magisterial District. Election August 24, 1880.

For Sheriff.
David L. Smith is a candidate for Sheriff of Ohio county. Election August 24, 1880.

PERSONAL.

We are glad to see Mr. W. Wayne Griffin on again.
W. H. Williams has about received from his friends.
Dr. J. W. Patton and wife made a pleasant call last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Zach Field, of Equality, and Mrs. John W. Field paid this office a visit Monday.

J. Warren Barker and wife made a short but pleasant visit last Thursday morning.

Mr. Jas. A. Thomas, who has been quite ill for a week or two past, we are glad to note, is improving.

Mr. B. A. Williams and wife, of McHenry, spent Sunday in town, visiting the parents of Mr. Williams.

Mr. George Williams returned home Saturday from a week's visit to relatives in Batesville, Hancock county.

Judge H. L. D. Guffy and Wm. Ward, Esq., of Morgantown, were in attendance at our Circuit Court last week.

Mrs. John P. Rowe, of Point Pleasant, is selling her sons, Messrs. H. P. J. A. and J. R. Rowe, of this place.

Judge W. F. Gregory, accompanied by his son, Leroy, will leave today for Louisville, where they will remain several days.

Mr. Wm. Dix, of Breckinridge county, arrived here Monday evening, to superintend the building of Mr. W. C. Morgan's residence.

Mr. W. H. Wilson, a deaf mute from Newville, called on us last Saturday. He was educated in Danville, Ky., and is quite intelligent.

David Johnson, Esq., of Pleasant Ridge, spent last week in town. He devoted most of his time to hunting and fishing, and was very successful at both.

Amos Jones, Esq., one of the rising young attorneys of the Hartford bar, left last Thursday for Louisville and Frankfort, where he will remain a few days on business.

Messrs. W. H. E. and J. M. Morgan, of N. N. Metz, of Caseyville, H. W. Story, of Bedford and J. M. Lawrence, of Beaver Dam, were in town last Sunday and called to see us.

Mrs. Dr. L. G. Arnold, of Masonville, accompanied by her sister, Miss Anna Harris and Miss Mattie Harris, are visiting the family of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arnold, near town.

Miss Belle Pugh, of Warsaw, Ky., has been very ill for a week or ten days past. Miss Little is well known here, and her many friends will be glad to learn that she is now convalescing.

Miss Emma Phillips left Monday morning for Hopkinsville, to attend the commencement exercises of Bethel Female College, and will return from there to Madisonville, where she will spend several days visiting relatives.

Mr. R. P. Morris and family, who returned last week from their trip to Kansas in 1877, returned last week. Mr. Morris is much pleased with that country, but says he will probably remain here on account of his family, who are not satisfied in being severed from relatives and friends.

L. P. Burman, Esq., who has been engaged as a salesman in the Trade Palace for several months past, resigned his position there last week, and is at present engaged in the dry goods house of R. P. Rowe & Co., where he will be glad to have his friends call and see him.

Mr. John C. Thomson, who has for a year past been a faithful contributor to the HERALD, left last Sunday for his home in Madisonville, Ky. The severing of his connection with this office, and bidding adieu to his many friends here occasioned regret from all, as he was very much endeared to them. John returns to his old home with a broken heart, and will regret his leaving very much.

Mr. Z. O. King, of the republican corps and general solicitor agent of the Louisville Post, was in town several days last week, the interest of that very deservingly popular sheet. The Post is fast becoming the leading paper of the city or State. Since the date of its present management, which has only been a few weeks, over two thousand names have been added to its list. This is due, in a great measure, to the ability, energy and popularity of Mr. King. He added several names to the list while in town.

Don't forget those spring chickens at W. H. Williams & Son's.

Thousands of soldiers and heirs are entitled to pensions with payment from date of discharge or death, if applied for before July 1, 1881. Wound, accidental injury or disease entitles to a pension. Bounty and back pay collected. Increase of pension secured. This firm established in 1868. Address, enclosing stamp, Union Street, U. S. Claim Attorneys, 211 C. Street, Washington, D. C.

Mr. E. S. Edgerly respectfully informs the citizens of Hartford and vicinity, that he intends to remain at this place and carry on the palatial business in all its branches, house, sign and carriage work, painting, paper hanging, &c., done in the latest style. All work guaranteed to give satisfaction. All given in his line will be thankfully received, and promptly attended to.

Infants' gummy goods, at Anderson's Bazaar.

Go to Lou Hill's for all kinds of groceries, provisions, &c.

The cheapest place to buy shirts is Anderson's Bazaar.

For a good feed and a clean rub, stop at Field's livery stable.

Counterpanes in great variety, at Anderson's Bazaar.

Buy your saddles, bridles and saddle hardware, from Thomas Bros.

Fishing in tough creek was never known to be better than it is this season.

Ladies' Umbrellas, from very low prices to first grades, at Anderson's Bazaar.

The telephone headquarters has been moved to the rear of Z. Wayne Griffin's drug store.

Bridal supplies in immense variety, and sold under strictest secrecy, at Anderson's Bazaar.

If you want a sure fit and a neat appearing boot or shoe, call at the Hartford Boot and Shoe Shop.

Rev. J. S. McDougal, pastor of the M. E. Church at this place, held regular services last Sunday night.

Judge Stuart, candidate for Circuit Judge, addressed the citizens of Equality and vicinity, last Saturday.

Remember you can buy pure Illinois whisky at 50 cents per quart, at Rogers & King's, Bedford, Ky.

L. P. Wiener, in addition to his boot and shoe shop, has added a regular shoe store.

Quite a party of young ladies and gentlemen of town attended the Baptist services at Walton's Creek Church last Sunday.

Mr. J. F. Yager has moved to Owensboro and opened a livery stable in the upper part of the city. He desires the patronage of the public.

A lodge of Good Templars was organized at Taylor cast mines, near Beaver Dam, last week, by that old veteran in the temperance reform, William Hamilton.

The commencement exercises of South Carrollton Institute will begin on Monday, June the 7th, 1880, and continue during the week. A good time is anticipated.

The citizens of Hartford and vicinity were gladdened last Thursday and Friday by refreshing showers of rain. It is thought that the rain was general throughout this section of the country.

Rev. J. Pendleton Taylor, of Warren county, will not fill his appointment at Slaty Creek Church next Sunday, as announced in the HERALD two weeks since, on account of an engagement in his own county on that day.

These that have been owing us for some ten or twelve months, may not be surprised if they find their accounts and notes in the hands of an officer.

FOR SALE—A HOUSE AND LOT.
—Mr. J. F. Yager, desiring to move to Owensboro, wishes to sell his HOUSE and LOT in Hartford. For further particulars, apply to C. J. YAGER.

HERALD OFFICE.

—When you come to town to see the new boiler for F. M. Hoover's mill, do not forget that mammoth Stock of dry goods, notions, &c., that is being opened and sold at lower figures than you have been offered before, at Rogers & King's, Bedford, Ky.

MARRIAGE—May 19th, 1880, at the residence of the bride's brother, by Rev. J. A. Bennett, Mr. Frank P. Fillerer to Miss Victory London, both of Ohio county. They have our best wishes. May they live long and have plenty.

The Commonwealth against Frank L. Smith, an account of which we gave last week, came up for trial Monday morning before F. P. Morgan, Police Judge, and defendant dismissed. It seemed that there was no proof that Smith had anything to do in the affair, as he was not present at the time the shooting was done. We gladly make this correction, as the statement last week did him an injustice.

On last Wednesday evening Mr. Geo. Majors was killed by a horse, breaking one of his arms. He failed to procure the services of a surgeon and set it as best as he could himself, but on last Saturday evening Dr. C. T. Wallace fixed it up for him. It has not been more than a month since he was fearfully mangled and bruised and had scarcely recovered from that until this accident. He ought to have an accident insurance policy.

The baptizing at Walton's Creek Church Sunday, was attended by the following parties from town: Miss Mamie Anderson and R. C. Hardwick, Miss Maggie Mosely and Taylor Coffman, Miss Blanche Nail and Godfrey McHenry, Miss Kate Hardwick and J. R. Collins, Miss Annie Hardwick and L. P. Foreman, J. E. Rowe, wife and Miss Lula Walker, R. P. Rowe and wife, Clarence Hardwick and W. P. Haden, M. McIntyre, J. A. Rowe and J. L. Hill.

One of the most important cases tried at the late term of our Circuit Court, was that of the National School Furniture Company, of Chicago, vs. H. B. Taylor. This was agreed to be a test case to determine the liability of some fifty School Trustees on what purported to be orders drawn by them on the School Commissioner, some three years ago, and guaranteeing the payment of the same, in consideration of certain school apparatus, claimed to have been furnished the several districts. Messrs. Walker & Hubbard and Judge Gregory, of our home bar, and Messrs. Kinney & Bernard, of Louisville, represented the plaintiff, and Mr. Henry & Hill appeared for the defendant, and filed a plea of fraud and non est factum. The Court, after hearing the case, sustained the defendant's plea by dismissing the plaintiff's petition.

—Ananda Parks, of color, living in this place, died last Saturday of consumption.

—Circuit Court adjourned last Saturday, having gotten through with the docket.

—David R. Carter, living near Rockport, died last Sunday morning after a brief illness.

—When you come to town, remember Field's livery stable is the place to leave your horses.

—W. G. Eades has opened a sewing machine office in Etzel's boot and shoe shop. He sells the Singer.

—You can save from 10 to 20 per cent on the dollar by buying your saddlery from Thomas Bros.

—Large stock of saddles, bridles and buggy harness, at Thomas Bros., at 20 per cent below the regular price.

—Albina McCoy, of McHenry, Ky., daughter of Simon McCoy, died last Monday morning of typhoid.

—For oranges, lemons, prunes, raisins, dried currants, figs and peaches, go to W. H. Williams & Son's.

—Horses, mules, bays and all kinds of country produce taken in exchange for sewing machines, by W. G. Eades.

—W. H. Williams & Son have just received a splendid stock of family groceries, and are selling them as low as the lowest.

—Wool: The quotations in Louisville yesterday, were medium. Twashet 32 to 34 cents; burry, 20 to 28 cents and tub-washed 42 to 45 cents.

—R. P. Rowe & Co., will open another large lot of dry goods, boots and shoes, notions, &c., today. Give them a call and secure bargains.

—The rush at R. P. Rowe & Co.'s new dry goods store, has made it necessary to purchase another almost entire new stock, which will open to-day.

—Mr. A. P. Etzel is going to erect, as a sign, a large red boot in front of his shop, and christen his place of business "The Hartford Boot and Shoe Shop."

—Messrs. J. W. Ford and J. T. Lighthart returned Saturday from a week's fishing frolic in Green River. They had splendid luck and report fishing most excellent.

—Pineapples, which was announced to take place about the 1st of June, has been unavoidably postponed until sometime during vacation. Due notice will be given of the time.

—Mr. Wm. M. Hinton, of Newville, is prepared to make boots and shoes to order. He does his work well, uses good material and makes a nice fit. Call on him and leave your order and measure.

—By a perusal of our local columns will be found the advertisements of Mr. A. C. Etzel, boot and shoe maker. Mr. Etzel is a first class workman, is just starting in life, and is deserving of your patronage. Give him your order.

—Do not think we are running, we mean business, we have the goods at low prices, and we cannot keep them for you. Call at once, or you will miss a bargain.

ROGERS & KING,
Bedford, Ky.

—Mr. Amos Bennett, an old and highly honored citizen of McLean county, living near the Ohio county line, a few miles from Livermore, died very suddenly last Wednesday while sitting in his chair. Apoplexy, or heart disease, is supposed to have been the cause.

—Rev. J. H. James, living in this place, was lost from his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, during the late war, and by accident Mr. James learned, a short time since, that his mother lived in Litchfield. James and family left immediately to see her, which was the first time they had seen or known each other for 17 years.

—Hartford has the neatest and most conveniently arranged post-office to be found anywhere. Mr. H. P. Rowe, postmaster, has had the office well appointed, and gives it an attractive appearance. While in this connection, we would say that persons remitting money will find that Post Office Money Orders are the safest and surest manner to do so.

—Mr. A. C. Etzel, who, for about a year past, has been living in Hartford, engaged in the boot and shoe business, has fitted up the lower room of the Canan House, opposite the Thomas & Kinley's drug store, and opened on a new boot and shoe shop. He will be pleased to have those calling waiting work done. All work warranted and satisfaction guaranteed.

—In November, 1878, Mr. N. C. Williams and family left this county for the Western world, seeking health for his wife and fortune for all. He traveled a great portion of the time, remaining but a short period at any one place. They traveled through Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and the Indian Nations, returning to their native land a few weeks ago, having seen much of the Western country, but we regret to add that Mrs. Williams' health is no better.

—The Grand Army of the Republic aids in the support of the orphans and widows of its deceased comrades, and thus throws over these helpless ones the broad shield of the protection of its powerful organization. The sad fate of the little babes of General J. B. Hood, (who lost a fortune of over $100,000 by the sudden depreciation of the State bonds of Louisiana, and whose wife and himself died of yellow fever in the same week last summer at New Orleans), has prompted the soldiers who were under his command to adopt their adoption. To lead their bodies and have it done. Not to be outdone in any way, Mr. Hubbard, the great anti-third-term headlight, dished up the following elegant lines, which far surpasses "Briant's Thana-topia," or any other American production of the 19th century, and which were used by Mr. Walker with marked effect in his speech, he following Mr. McHenry, and doing the argument:

THE THREE JOEY MEN.
Also and Boy from East Tennessee, followed by Timmy from Bankrupt Town, State out as a quiet child, and down to lead their bodies and have it done.

—Three blue birds on a rose vine.

—Three blue birds on a clothes line.

—Three awful jolly men.

This Way, Farmers!

We have only a small amount of the Early Prolific Corn left, and being desirous of closing it out we will sell it a little cheaper than heretofore. Come on and secure it.

Death of W. Ed. Calloway.

Mr. Calloway was a young man 34 years old, and was regarded by all who knew him as an honorable, upright, industrious man. He died on last Thursday morning, after a long illness, of typhoid fever. His remains were interred in the Walton's Creek Cemetery on the same evening.

For Commonwealth Attorney.

We this week present the name of Joe Noe, of Calloway, to the readers of the HERALD, as a candidate in this, the 4th Judicial District. Mr. Noe is a young man and is well qualified for the position, and if elected, would make a most efficient Attorney. He is the present County Attorney of McLean county and has discharged the duties of that office with perfect satisfaction to all, and the duties of Commonwealth Attorney, if elected. He is a true Democrat, and will make the race warm for the man that beats him.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 24.

Market Report.

We are glad to be able to report a decided improvement in prices this week. Our market is firm and active.

The report as to crop prospects have been very discouraging recently, but we hope the late due rains will materially improve the outlook.

The rain has had the effect of checking immediate further advance in the market, but has not caused any decline whatever.

Sales for the week 1,081 hbls. Receipts for the week 630 hbls. Sales since January 24, 24,985 hbls. Yours truly,

SHERLEY & GLOVER.

The Timiney-Rice Suit.

This suit attracted more attention than all the other cases in this court together. The argument was being concluded when our paper was issued last week. The case was given to the jury on Wednesday, who were kept on the case until Thursday evening, and falling to agree upon a verdict, were discharged. The suit was brought by Monroe Timiney, for false arrest and malicious prosecution, placing the damages at $5,000. As the case yet stands for trial, we forbear any attempt at giving any of the facts, as we do not wish to do injustice to either party, and are not fully enough posted to pretend to give the circumstances fully.

The case was ably managed on behalf of Timiney, by Messrs. McHenry & Hill, and W. T. Ellis, of Owensboro, and equally as ably defended by Messrs. Walker & Hubbard, and J. E. Rowe.

We heard the major part of the speeches of Messrs. Hill and Ellis, for plaintiff, and of Hubbard and Walker, for defendant, and can say with all confidence, we never heard a case more ably argued in the court-house. It was steel to steel. We had heard all our home lawyers before, and expected nothing else of them but able speeches on their respective sides of the case. We had heard Mr. Ellis in political debates and knew he was a tower of strength there, but this was the first time we had ever heard him in a court of justice before a jury of his countrymen, and while we expected an able effort, he far surpassed anything we imagined he could do. No ground was left untended, no stone was left unturned. His points were well taken and forcibly and eloquently presented. We hear the speeches of Messrs. McHenry and Rowe highly complimented. We knew that Mrs. H. D. McHenry had a mind filled with poetic fancies, and has produced several "gems of purest ray," but who'd a' tho't that a man of such a solid matter-of-fact, phlegmatic temperament as H. D. McHenry possesses, would have ever thought of wandering off into poetic pastures. However, in this case he did, and we feel almost certain that he was actuated, inspired by the spirit of his old and long since departed friend and professional brother, Wm. Anthony, for he composed and very appropriately, used in his speech before the jury, the following pathetic lines:

Two jolly detectives went out on a raid, They gathered poor Alop and made him afraid. One went to Timiney to deliver a note, But was afraid to go in, and lit out like a shot.

Poor Timiney was duped and to the big city Where Rice had him snatched, for he had not. He was dragged to the police and put in his pen. He was cleared by the court, but paid a big fee.

The tobacco was sold at a very low price. And went to the clutches of the great Mr. Rice. Now Mr. Timiney comes here and puts forth And asks the jury to restore his good name.

Not to be outdone in any way, Mr. Hubbard, the great anti-third-term headlight, dished up the following elegant lines, which far surpasses "Briant's Thana-topia," or any other American production of the 19th century, and which were used by Mr. Walker with marked effect in his speech, he following Mr. McHenry, and doing the argument:

THE THREE JOEY MEN.
Also and Boy from East Tennessee, followed by Timmy from Bankrupt Town, State out as a quiet child, and down to lead their bodies and have it done.

—Three blue birds on a rose vine.

—Three blue birds on a clothes line.

—Three awful jolly men.

Hold out one there's Howard, you've heard of him, but I'll catch him. He's not the fellow that will catch me. My name is Bully Boyles, from East Tennessee.

—Three down drops, &c.

They loaded the wagon while the stars were bright. And when they got to the place in the night. But the tobacco all covered with hay. While above the back before rest of day. —Three down drops, &c.

Howard rode up and broke Timiney's dream. Who came to the door with a silver stream. We'll have a big talk on original sin. —Three down drops, &c.

Howard then spoke and says, "What's that?" All his talk about original sin. Where's that tobacco that belongs to Rice? But the poor Timiney, dead and divided in three. —Three down drops, &c.

If so be it, Mr. McHenry was not prompted by the departed spirit referred to, he has been real the pro-ceedings of Congress and the poetical fancies of Alex. Bowdoin, M. P., of Arizona, captivated him and he was ambitious to excel the Hon. Mr. Bowdoin. There had been a talk of a "Pinafore" performance here, but after this, it would fall flat, and would not draw worth a cent.

Pic-Nic.

A grand picnic will be given on the Hartford and Paradise road, near Absalom Chapman's, Saturday, June the 5th, 1880. Refreshments of all kinds, music and dancing will be on the ground for all wishing to participate. There will be one of the best string bands from the Owensboro Junction, in the county. Come one and come all, and enjoy yourselves. The candidates for the different offices are invited, and are expected to attend. The old and young will be there to hear their speak.

20-31. D. W. WAKELAND & CO.

Wool Carding.

The public are hereby informed that our carding machine has been put in first-class order in every respect, by an experienced workman, and we are now prepared to do carding with dispatch and in good order. We have secured the services of a first-class carder, and will card wool for seven cents per pound, plain, and seven and a-half per pound, mixed, or one-fifth toll. We intend to keep up with our work. So bring on your wool and take your rolls back with you the same day. We have Kate's goods for sale for cash or in exchange for wool.

Thankful for past patronage. We solicit a continuance of the same. Trinding one every day in the week except Sunday.

Respectfully,
19-47. Jno. R. & Wm. PHIPPS.

Nearly Springs and Booth's Lake.

MORGANTOWN, KY.

This object of natural scenery and those surrounding it, are dear to the people of Butler county. You may ask the aged one where does he find a retreat and rest from the busy cares of life, and he will answer, "Nearly Springs." There lives not a citizen here who has not a pleasant recollection of this place of pines, barberries, public and social gatherings. As a description of this spring may be of public benefit, the writer will name its locality, &c., &c. It is situated four miles below Morgantown, and half mile (on left) from the leading to Cranwell. It is on the bank of an aged citizen of this county, David Graves. It is easily approached by horse or carriage. The road leading to it from main road is good. Some time in the future the public will pay more attention to this place as a resort for health, amusement, &c. The waters contain many medicinal virtues, being strongly impregnated with sulphur, iron, &c.—tonics in the highest degree. One of the great attractions is the natural scenery which surrounds it, being a happy blending of sublime and picturesque objects which all persons refined and cultivated tastes delight to see. As you approach it from main road, you will find it to be in valley of sandy rocks, a pretty bottomed upland stream. It is situated at the foot of a somewhat abrupt descent, yet it is not lofty. A deep forest and undergrowth are rocks set rather angularly over the source of the waters, plainly tell the visitor that they have been the keeper of this bubbling fountain for years. The water gushes out through three or four channels on a broad, flat rock, which lies under the source of the spring. On this rock are chiselled grooves and basins for its exit, rendered, &c. Many visitors can be seated on this rock, and in the cool shade, view the scenery on the other side of the creek. Over there are huge cliffs extending several miles up and down the valley of the little stream. They are truly sublime; their moss-covered features strike the visitor with awe. At the base of these cliffs, at a respectful distance from each other along the valley, grow the majestic oaks, towering sweet gums and manumung bees, all bound together and held in sweet communion by the serpentine windings of the long-lived, thorny Fox grape. Here we have the beautiful, picturesque and sublime! Here the songsters of the wood warble and chirp, and the sweet symphonies of nature with the Aeolian strings, played by the unseen hand of the Goddess of the Wood, it is lifted into Godliness, as were the shades of the departed on the dreamless shores of Lethe's stream. The lake elicits no special attention, only that it is a short distance from the springs, and has become a great fishing resort, visited of late years by people from Warren, Logan and Simpson counties. The scenery that surrounds it is very fine. It has no sun, full of fish—cat, drum, buffalo, sun-perch, calico-perch, &c.

Miss Laura Clark and Lettie Beauchamp, accomplished young ladies of Hartford, are visiting friends and relatives here. In company with these and Misses Josie Skillern, Callie Morehead, Nannie Carson, George Hughes and others, they had a very pleasant trip to the lake—caught much fish. It was a day of adventure. One young lady, desirous of medical honors, captured the horse of a certain young physician and rode him from the lake to the springs. Hurrah for woman's rights.

With best wishes for the HERALD, we remain,

The Kentucky Legislature has appropriated $500, to be used under the direction of Col. Bowman, State Commissioner of Agriculture, in analyzing artificial fertilizers offered for sale in the State. Firms dealing in commercial fertilizers are required to submit samples for analysis, and the articles sold must come up to the sample in quality.

To Our Subscribers, Read Carefully.

Our premium book, Home Guide, has been received, and is ready for distribution. Any person having subscribed since January 1st, 1880, and paid subscription for one year, and any person who was a subscriber previous to January 1st, and pays up to the end of the year 1880, is entitled to choice of our premium books, Home Guide, or Treatise on the Horse. If you are entitled to one of the books, call and get it, or if more convenient, write to us and we will send by mail. If you are not entitled to become so at once, by paying up. They are valuable books, and should be in every family.

Women Never Think!

If the erudite old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Home Guides as the best and most demonstrating it by keeping their families in perfect health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

Sweet Potatoes.

I have bedded about twenty bushels of sweet potatoes, mostly yellow and red yam and Southern Queen, and a few of the Jersey, Golden and Brazilian and will sell slips at 25 cents each, and delivered at any station on the P. & E. R. R., or by J. S. Vaughn at Hartford. Persons ordering less than 200 will have to pay the freight. D. J. BROWN, 16-81 Beaver Dam, Ohio Co., Ky.
